

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. We know you have been looking very carefully at this serious topic, and we laud you for your efforts.

However, Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Unfortunately, they are not living up to their obligation to the American People.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. And their blatant flaunting of important FCC rules regarding politically partisan propaganda masquerading as news, especially so close to the election itself, cries out for your urgent and powerful attention. Thank you.
